Of Colorado selected as their favorite and the little nook, nestling under the shadow of Pike's Peak, which is now annually visited by thousands of their pale-faced brethren, and which has become famous as "THE SARATOGA OF THE WEST."

The centre of attraction to the Indian was a wonderful, life-giving, sparkling spring. As he quaffed its delicious water, he felt that it had been created for him by the Great Spirit, and, therefore, in deepest reverence, he called it

"MANITOU"

This water we are now bottling, and we present it to the American public as the

PUREST, MOST REFRESHING AND BEST TASTING NATURAL SPRING WATER

now offered. We claim no special medical qualities for it. Like all waters strongly impregnated with carbonic acid gas, it aids digestion, and is highly beneficial in dyspeptic and bilious conditions, but our great claim for it is that

"MANITOU" IS THE FINEST SPARKLING TABLE WATER IN THE WORLD.

It Retains its Freshness and Sparkle Longer Than Any Known Water.

We feel sure that if you give it a trial you will pronounce it superior to every other foreign or American mineral water.

INTRODUCTORY.

OFFICE OF CITY DIRECTORY,
COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO.,
June 15, 1886. }

The Directory herewith presented to the citizens of Colorado Springs, Manitou Springs, and Colorado City, is the result of a desire on the part of the publisher to meet a want long experienced by our business men.

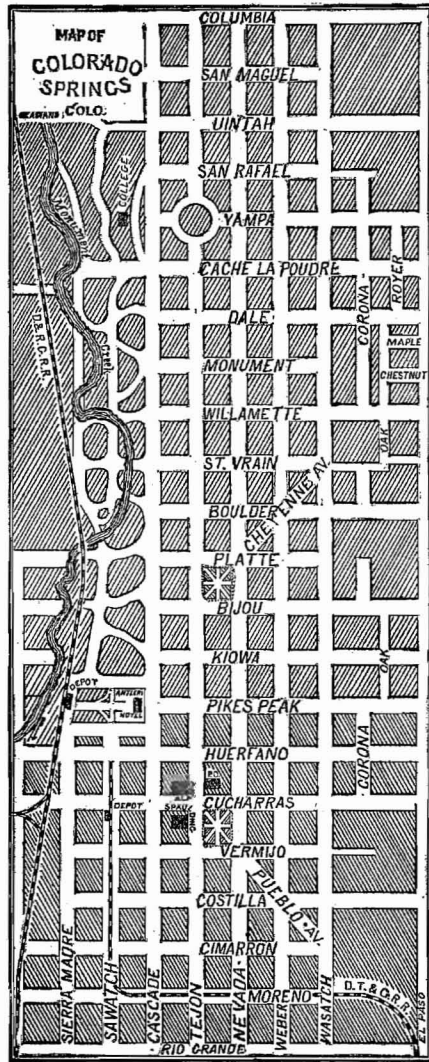

The encouragement bestowed in kind words and liberal patronage warrants me to make it a regular publication. It may be looked for as soon after the first of May of every alternate year as the correct necessary information can be obtained and printed.

I have not, as a matter of course, escaped errors. In fact I am conscious that amid the difficulties and perplexities of getting out this volume, I have been led into mistakes, which can be avoided in the future.

I desire to express my thanks for many courtesies shown me, and I trust that a kind Providence may continue the prosperity of the places for which this work is intended.

Sincerely,

S. N. FRANCIS, Publisher.

COLORADO SPRINGS.

IT WOULD be impossible to imagine a more beautiful location for a city than that occupied by Colorado Springs, in the valley of the Fontaine qui Bouille, in the very geographical center of the state, on the Denver and Rio Grande Railway—seventy-five miles south of Denver and forty-five miles north of Pueblo. To the eye of the observer, from the summit of Pike's Peak, the whole surface appears perfectly level, but there is in reality just enough descent towards the south and east to carry irrigating water throughout the city. Fresh, green, inviting valleys lie all around, smiling in the grandest emerald garments of nature, and streams that leaped for life through the mountain crags, danced in glee around the base-hill boulders, are playing quietly amid the grasses of the plateau. Far skyward are the broad-shouldered "spurs" with their epaulets of fir and pine. Away toward the last, for 600 miles, stretch the prairie plain that unites the mountains and the Missouri.

All the wild, subdued, and quiet scenes that other points in Colorado possess can here be found together with the most regular and beneficent climate in the state; a climate mellowed by the mountains, varied by the valleys, and made pleasant by the plains. Colorado Springs is the pivotal center of all natural enjoyments, and the "wise men from the east" who selected it as a resting place more for curative than commercial purposes, more for pleasure than production of trade or traffic, could not have been more successful in their work had they searched over the entire west. Colorado Springs is a geographical district of Colorado that has more possessions to be practically proud of than the ownership of Pike's Peak, which by name is the most familiar monument of earth, stone, and minerals in the world. El Paso county can take the visitor to its northern portion, and show him agricultural acres that would make any husbandman feel like a king in their possessions. There can be seen farms in the highest state of cultivation, and orchards of small and large fruits that vie with the golden grain fields in satisfying the owners with their prosperity. A tour to the east brings to view a grazing country, thickly dotted with corrals and herders' homes, and whose luxuriant grasses are nibbled by thousands of kine and sheep. Practical developments have proved beyond the shadow of a doubt that there are numerous coal deposits under these lands. Time will rapidly witness the sinking of shafts in this portion of the county, as the inquisitive and avaricious eye of the capitalist discovers that there is more wealth in the coal veins below than in the cattle and sheep ranges above. In the western portion, El Paso has located its museum of mountain marvels and mineral springs, a legion of scenic surprises, drawn up in dress parade for the wonder of the world, with the giant Pike's Peak, the historical landmark of Colorado, at the head.

Colorado Springs has around it one of the most prosperous and progressive rural regions in the state to give it commercial sustenance and vitality. There are such flourishing villages as Manitou Springs, Colorado City, Monument, Husted, Edgerton, Fountain, Widefield, Little Buttes, Franceville, Florissant, and a score of other towns or settlements that look to the "Springs" for supplies. This is a commercial point of no small importance, and it is growing grander and greater in this respect every day.

THE FOUNTAIN COLONY.

From this association of active and enterprising men, Colorado Springs really received its existence in 1871, and, regardless of expenditure of capital and time, they nourished it carefully through its struggling infancy to its now vigorous youth. To them more than to any other corporation should be given credit for the splendid schools, public parks and buildings, irrigating canals and public improvements of every kind that so characterize this city. The management, since the original purchase of the sites of Colorado Springs and Manitou, and the organization of the colony has been almost entirely in the same hands, and but few changes have taken place. General Wm. J. Palmer, who was one of the original trustees, is now president; Dr. W. A. Bell, owner of the Mansions and Manitou houses, but whose interests have for several years been identified with those of this city, is vice president; and Mr. G. H. Parsons, also an old member of the colony, is secretary and treasurer.

The founders of Colorado Springs have the satisfaction of knowing that they made the most beautiful city in the west. The streets which are laid out at right angles run north and south and east and west, the former being two miles, and the latter about one mile in length. They are from 100 to 150 feet in width. The blocks are each 400 feet square. The lots in the center of the business part of the city are 25 feet front by 190 feet deep. The residence lots are generally 50 feet by 190 feet, but many of those in the suburbs of the city are much larger. After the streets had been geometrically laid out, cottonwood trees were placed as sentinels of shade along their sides at intervals of twenty feet. Upwards of 7000 were located in this way in the beginning, at an outlay of about $15,000, and large additions have been made.

Irrigating facilities were constructed to aid in the growth of trees, shrubbery, plants and lawn grass in the city, and at the same time be of sanitary service to the inhabitants. The canal which brings the water from the Fountain, a distance of six miles, is ample for a population of twenty thousand persons. At an outlay of $150,000 Colorado Springs, Manitou, and Colorado City have been provided with an abundant supply, for domestic and sprinkling purposes, of soft, clear, pure, limpid water, fresh from the eternal springs gushing from the side of Pike's Peak. Water rates are lower than in any city or town in the state.

During the first five years of the existence of Colorado Springs $272,000 were expended in improvements. In order to be able to meet the expenditure, the profits accruing from the sale of two-thirds of the total number of lots in the town site were constituted an improvement fund. Lots were given by the founders of Colorado Springs to the different religious denominations, and for public institutions, all of which show the generous spirit with which the early years of the city was fostered, and how a liberal past has made a most progressive and prosperous present.

THE PUBLIC BUILDINGS

of Colorado Springs, as might naturally be supposed, are of a very substantial and at the same time attractive character. The Colorado College is an imposing structure. Notwithstanding its unfortunate career and financial embarrassment, it has, through the zealous labors of Prof. Marden and liberal generosity of our citizens and friends of the college in the east, secured during the past year $50,000 toward the current expenses. The year just closed has been the most successful one of its existence.* The public schools are as near perfect as it is possible to make them. The High school and Liller school are a credit to the place. The city has recently appropriated $40,000 for two more school buildings. The educational interests are kept up equal to any metropolitan city. The Antlers is the most luxurious hotel in the state, built in the Queen Ann style at a cost of nearly $200,000. The magnificent scenery surrounding it, the extensive parks and lawns, shaded by a multitude of trees, make it the most desirable stopping place in the west. A fine opera house costing $80,000, with a seating capacity of 800, and finished in elaborate style, furnishes a place of amusement. The Deaf-Mute Institute, a state institution for the education of the mute and blind, is well managed. The building is a credit to the state and an ornament to the city. El Paso Club furnishes the socially inclined with comfortable and gentlemanly quarters to while away hours of listless leisure, while numerous smaller associations tend to drive away dull care in a healthy, moral, respectable way. The City Hall, Court House, and many others are conspicuous and substantial buildings. A "City of Homes," indeed, for there is no place in the west that will surpass Colorado Springs in this respect.

CHURCHES.

All the principal religious denominations are represented here. The Presbyterians, Methodists, Congregationalists, Bap-

*The college provides a classical course, issuing in the degree of A. B., a literary course, and departments preparatory to both these courses. It has also a well-equipped school of assaying and metallurgy, and various winter scientific courses. Special students who may desire to take up one or more studies are received; and an opportunity is thus offered, at a very moderate expense, invalids who are able and disposed, to devote some time to study, to pass some hours profitably as well as agreeably.

tists, Episcopalians, Christians, Cumberland Presbyterians, Methodists South, Catholics, A. M. E. Church, have all well built structures and large and growing congregations.

BUSINESS INTERESTS.

Colorado Springs does a large mercantile business. About $4,000,000 worth of groceries, flour, feed, grain, dry goods, hardware, lumber, drugs, boots and shoes, furnishing goods, etc., etc., were sold during the past year. In addition to this, over $250,000 worth of wool was marketed here. There is also a large trade of horses and beef cattle. El Paso county stands at the head of the wool producing counties of the state. The majority of the wool growers in the county reside in this city.

There are three banks in Colorado Springs—the First National, Peoples, and El Paso County—all of which are sound financial institutions.

The city is lighted by gas, and telephone wires connect all parts of the city with Denver, Manitou and Pueblo.

The livery business is conducted on a large scale. There are six establishments of this kind in the city. No finer turnouts can be found anywhere in the west.

TEMPERANCE FEATURES.

There are no saloons and bars in the city, for this is a temperance town. The colony, after receiving the United States title to the town plat, incorporated the following strong provision in the deed of every lot and piece of ground thereafter sold:—

“That intoxicating liquors shall never be manufactured, sold, or otherwise disposed of, as a beverage, in any place of public resort, in or upon the premises hereby granted.”

Provision was also made in all deeds that if these conditions were violated, the land and buildings thereon should revert to the original owners. There have been violations of this clause, and the courts of this state and the Supreme court of the United States having decided in favor of the provision, valuable property has been lost to the owner.

RAILROADS.

The Denver and Rio Grande, Denver, Texas and Gulf, and Santa Fe, all run daily trains to and from this city and make close connections for all points east, west, north or south. The Midland, now in the course of construction, has its offices located here. The Missouri Pacific will in all probability extend its line to this city in the course of a few years, while the Pike's Peak Railway will ascend the Peak before many years roll by. Thus Colorado Springs will soon become a great railroad center.

SCENERY.

The scenery about Colorado Springs, embracing the mountains and the plains, is grand and beautiful. On the western side the mesas skirt the foothills, these swell to mountains which rise one above another till the magnificent dome of Pike's Peak, with an altitude of 14,136 feet above the level of the sea, stands alone above them all, “forever to claim kindred with the firmament, and be companioned by the clouds of heaven.” The whole mountain is one barren mass of rock as we see it from the town, for the eastern face is open to us almost down to the foot hills; deep perpendicular gorges and terrible ravines reveal themselves by narrow white rifts, snow hidden so deep that the sun cannot reach it. And yet among those piled-up rocks and in the seams and gorges, most beautiful flowers grow; tiny creatures, gorgeous in purple and gold, hugging their stern friends closely.

The summit is seldom if ever without its covering of snow; and often in midsummer before the burning sun has quite had time to melt away the last thin folds, a cloud will stoop and spending itself in love and pity, leave a white mantle there.

Cameron's Cone, to the left of the Peak, its summit not above timber line, defines itself clearly against the sky in strong, dark contrast to its lofty neighbor.

To the left of the Cone and rising a little higher is Mt. Garfield, and behind its southern slope the rounded summit of Bald Mountain peers, white headed or bald as the snow covers it or melts away. Then for a space cones and curves give place to sharp ridges and angles, a group of these having for its queen Mount Rosa, a mountain as beautiful as its name. It is named for Rose Kingsley, the daughter of the late Canon Kingsley, of England. During the winter of 1871 Miss Kingsley and another lady were the only women in the colony just established at Colorado Springs.

COLORADO SPRINGS.

Cheyenne Mountain is the last but not the least, for next to Pike's Peak it attracts the most attention. It is a gigantic inland promontory projecting into the ocean of the plains, out into the quiet places, beyond the incoming wave-like foothills.

Mountain slopes and numberless foothills are continually discovering themselves in new folds and shapes with every hour of the day. Lights and shadows and changing clouds bring out undreamed of hills and rocks and the colors shade from black and gray to ochre and vermilion.

CLIMATE.

The altitude of Colorado Springs is 6000 feet above the level of the sea; its protection from the north and west winds by the Divide on the north and the mountain range on the west, render the climate of this locality one of the most solubrious and delightful to be found in the world. Its altitude and proximity to the mountains temper the summer heat, and nights during the season being always cool enough for comfort. During the autumn and winter months the atmosphere is dry and invigorating, with almost uninterrupted sunshine. It is both a summer and a winter resort. Thousands of invalids of all classes flock hither, and nearly all find relief from their respective ailments, while very many, particularly those suffering from asthma, throat and lung troubles, dyspepsia and general debility, are permanently cured. In a word, Colorado Springs is the municipal gem of the Centennial state, situated amid the grandest natural pictures of America, and its 6000 inhabitants are the personification of health, wealth, liberality, enterprise, and intelligence to be found on the face of the globe.

COLORADO COLLEGE.

Courses of Instruction.

- I. CLASSICAL COURSE.            III. SPECIAL WINTER COURSES.
II. CUTLER LITERARY COURSE. IV. PREPARATORY COURSES.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred upon students who satisfactorily complete the Classical Course. Suitable certificates are given to those who complete the Cutler Literary Course, or any of the Special Scientific Courses.

SPECIAL WINTER COURSES.

- (1) Blowpiping with Determinative Mineralogy. (2) Assaying.
(3) Qualitative Chemical Analysis. (4) Quantitative Chemical Analysis. (5) Geology. (6) Surveying.

These courses are open to all students who have sufficient maturity to pursue them to advantage. No regular hours of laboratory or field work are required of these students. Courses begin November 1.

SPECIAL STUDENTS.

It frequently happens that families or individuals are compelled to reside in the neighborhood of the College, from considerations of health, and many such persons would be glad to supplement their previous education by further study. The College, therefore, offers the opportunity for taking partial courses or special studies. Students will be admitted at any time into the regular recitations of any course, provided that, in the judgment of the faculty, they can pursue such studies to advantage. Instruction under competent teachers is offered in French, German and Spanish.

Additional particulars will be supplied at any time to persons desiring more explicit information, or who may be in doubt respecting equivalent studies or text books, on application to the President of the College.

THE NEW IRON SPRINGS HOTEL

MANITOU SPRINGS, COLO.

This elegant Hotel, which made so fine a reputation last year, is again open to guests. To those not familiar with the House and its location, we would say: that it is the only Hotel in this section, which is truly Modern in all its appointments.

EDISON'S INCANDESCENT ELECTRIC LIGHTS

are in every room, (the best and safest light in the world); the entire house is uniformly heated by steam, and all the chambers are furnished with new styles of walnut and cherry sets—the bedding being unexcelled.

Our Hotel being situated near the head of Engleman's Canon, and in the very heart of the most attractive mountain scenery, has, without doubt, the finest location of any pleasure resort in the State.

Owing to the protection on all sides, afforded by the mountains, wind storms are unknown. Being above the sewerage of the town and having the finest plumbing known, no location could be healthier.

Thus, not having any objectionable surroundings, the Iron Springs Hotel is

AN IDEAL SUMMER RESORT.

Only a few feet distant is one of the finest mountain streams in Colorado; and near by are two of the most noted Iron Springs in the world: the "Little Chief," a sure help for dyspepsia, kidney and liver troubles; and the "Ute," which is the finest tonic known. The Manitou trail to Pike's Peak winds through the Canon, hence parties leaving our Hotel have one mile less to travel on their way to the summit.

For the entertainment of guests there are provided first-class Billiard Tables, Lawn Tennis Court and good Music for Dancing. In connection with the Hotel we have twelve neatly furnished cottages, (three to six rooms each), furnished either for housekeeping or boarding at the Hotel. Parties wishing to build summer cottages could not find a more perfect spot.

Our rates are as low as any first-class hotel in Colorado, a reduction being made from September 15th to July 1st.

MANITOU SPRINGS.

AT THE foot of the ever-famous Pike's Peak, whose snow-clad summit rears its head above the clouds, nestles the beautiful town of Manitou Springs, already known throughout the world, and destined soon to become the most fashionable summer resort in America. Its altitude is 6,124 feet above the level of the sea, and it has about five hundred inhabitants, with churches, schools and pleasant residences, and five large, first-class hotels,—also numerous other small hotels and boarding houses. During the summer months it swarms with life, its hotels overflow, and private houses take in strangers; summer cottages and tents are perched like birds nests on the hillsides, among the rocks and in the cañons, and in every available place.

It is the wonderful mineral springs that have so largely added to the fame of this delightful resort. What was first chosen as a pleasant place for quiet homes, has become a sanitary retreat, whose remedial results have attracted the attention of scientists all over the world. Truly is it called the "Saratoga of the West," but it possesses worth of waters that no Saratoga east, north, or south, or Spa on the continent possesses, and the day is not far distant when the great medicinal merits of these mountain springs will become more generally understood, and the ailing and sick of all Christendom will be wending their way thitherward to secure from nature simple prescriptions more effective in bodily and mental ailments than that which the combined scientific knowledge of all the medical schools in the world can furnish.

This mineral water is now being bottled and is offered to the public abroad in carbonated form by the Manitou Mineral Water, Bath, and Park Company. It is said to retain its freshness and sparkle after being bottled longer than any other natural water in the world.

For those who admire the grand in nature, the mountains tower in the western heavens, marshaled and captained by Pike's

MANITOU SPRINGS.

Peak; for those who are moved by vastness, the mysterious plains stretch boundless to the east; for those who love gentler aspects, the valley of the Fontaine qui Bouille, glowing with greenery and planked with flowers, affords perennial pleasure. Manitou Springs has also claims as a winter resort, which are becoming recognized; and it will soon be regarded, as it undoubtedly is, the best winter resort in the west, especially for invalids; being sheltered by the mountains from the cold northeast winds, which are the prevailing storm winds of the state, and is in every respect more comfortable and pleasant than cities and towns situated on the open plains. Having a gravel soil, there is no alkaline dust to irritate the throat and lungs. The stillness of the atmosphere and continuous warm sunshine throughout the day more than compensate for the few minutes' earlier sunset. With its bright warm sunshine, fresh air, pure water, good food, and superior tonic springs, Manitou Springs has claims which are paramount to those of any other resort in America.

Among the leading hotels of Manitou Springs is the Barker, which has all the modern appliances and is centrally located. It has recently been enlarged to double the capacity of former years, and elegantly furnished throughout with ample accommodations for 125 guests.

The Iron Springs hotel is an ideal summer resort, being situated amid the most picturesque scenery to be found in Colorado. It is truly modern in all its appointments, having Edison's incandescent lights in every room, and the entire house is uniformly heated by steam, furnished with new styles of walnut and cherry sets, and bedding being unexcelled.

The Mansions, Cliff, and Manitou are all commodious and handsome hotels, elegantly furnished, beautifully located, and will provide all the modern comforts and conveniences to those who may desire to visit this popular resort. There are also numerous smaller hotels, boarding houses, cottages, where tourists and invalids can find pleasant quarters at a more reasonable cost.

Society here is represented by many of its best people. The evenings are made merry with hops and social gatherings, and delightful walks among the myriad attractions this place affords.

There are three churches here,—the Congregational, Episcopal, and a Catholic,—all of which have new and comfortable edifices, substantial and growing congregations.

The Manitou Springs Journal is a bright, newsy and neatly printed weekly paper, edited and published by Chas. P. Brown. The Journal also publishes a daily edition during "the season," in which W. H. Hinman shows intelligence and experience in wielding the editorial quill. It is a good paper, and the citizens show their appreciation of the Journal by giving it a liberal support.

The D. & R. G. have a branch road to this place, and trains run to and from here every few hours. It is also connected with other places by a complete telegraph and telephone system.

Once domiciled in Manitou the way to enjoy it to the utmost is in the saddle. The riding horses are excellent. Comfortable saddles for ladies and well trained horses are furnished by all the livery stables.

There are more points of interest near Manitou Springs than any other watering place in the world. Among the places which should be visited by all who come to this locality, are:

Cheyenne Mountain, over the new carriage road leading through beautiful mountain scenery to Beaver Creek and by the Seven Lakes to the summit of Pike's Peak.

Cheyenne Cañon to the Seven Falls.

Ute Pass and the Rainbow Falls.

Iron Springs in Engleman's Cañon.

Manitou Grand Caverns, Ute Pass.

Manitou Cañon and the grotto therein.

Summit of Pike's Peak, either by Bear Creek or Ruxton's Creek.

Williams' Cañon and Cave of the Winds.

Manitou Park in the mountains.

Garden of the Gods.

Glen Eyre.

Monument Park.

Blair Athol.

Crystal Park.

In addition to these there are many well-known localities, scores of cañons, caves, water-falls and charming nooks, which the sojourner for health or pleasure, can seek out for himself.

COLORADO CITY.

THE town of Colorado City is beautifully located midway between Colorado Springs and Manitou Springs, being two and one-half miles from either place. The town was regularly incorporated in the fall of 1858, during the Pike's Peak gold excitement, and was made the capital of the territory in 1861, by the first territorial legislature. Ex-Governor Gilpin was governor at the second session which met in June, 1862. Shortly after Governor Evans was appointed by the president, he adjourned the legislature to Golden, and afterwards to Denver, the latter of which, by virtue of its advantages and controlling influences, became the capital. The building in which the first territorial legislature met stood in the rear of where the bottling works are now located. El Paso was first recognized as a county by Gov. Gilpin. The court house, a large brick building erected in 1872, is still standing, and is used as a school house at present. In the contest for the location of the county seat, Colorado Springs gained the day in 1873. The water supply is good, the Fountain flowing directly through it, thus affording most excellent water power for manufacturing purposes. The Colorado Springs ditch flows immediately north of the town, and the large water main extends under Colorado avenue, the principal street in the town. The public school system, under the superintendency of Prof. J. P. Jackson, is fully kept up to the standard. The Methodist church is a neat little structure. The Stucco, Brick and Cement company, under the management of Judge G. H. Stewart, is the leading industry of the place, has a paid in capital of $22,000, and ship about four car loads of plaster paris and cement per month. It supplies Colorado, New Mexico and Utah with those articles. The whole town is underlaid with a bed of fine fire clay which outcrops here and there. Croppings of coal have also been discovered. When the Midland railway is built, Colorado City is destined to become a busy point, by reason of the machine shops which are to be located here, and also a large smelter which is projected. Colorado City is comprised of a good class of people, moral and intelligent. There are a number of families who have lived here since the town started, and have always had faith in its future.
